Article List

Parts of the editorial is based on:

Gansmo (2006): 'Girls and computing. A critical review' in Trauth, E.M (ed. 2006): Encyclopedia of Information and Technology.

IGI Publishing Hershey, PA, USA ©2006 ISBN:1591408156

Articel 1:

Gansmo, Lagesen & Sørensen (2003): 'Forget the hacker? A critical re-appraisal of Norwegian studies of gender and ICT.' In Merete Lie (ed.) He, She and IT revisited. Gyldendal Akademisk, Oslo, 34-68.

Artical 2 is based on the following two publications

Gansmo (2003): 'Girls and computing as national educational strategy in Norway' in Merete Lie and Knut H. Sørensen (eds.) Strategies of Inclusion: Gender in the Information Society. Vol. 1: Experiences from public sector initiatives. STS-report 63-2003, NTNU, Trondheim.

Gansmo (2002): 'Samfunnsproblemet "jenter og data"' i Kvinneforskning 2002:2, 10-26.

Artical 3:

Gansmo (2002): 'Seduced by numbers?' in A. Morrison (ed.) (2002) Reseraching ICTs in context. InterMedia-report 3/2002, Universitetet i Oslo, 185-210.

Artical 4:

Gansmo (2003): 'Limits of state feminism: Chaotic translation of 'the girls and computing problem." in Merete Lie (ed.) He, She and IT revisited. Gyldendal Akademisk, Oslo, 135-172.

Artical 5 is based upon but not identical with the following artical

Gansmo, Nordli & Sørensen (2003): The gender game. A study of Norwegian computer game designers, in C. MacKeogh & P. Preston (eds.), Strategies of inclusion: Gender in the Information Society. Vol. II: Experiences from the private and voluntary sector, STS-report 65/2003, NTNU, Trondheim.

Artical 6 is based upon but not identical with the following article:

Gansmo (2007): 'En digital kløft? Jenter, gutter og IKT' i Levold, N. & H. Spilker (red. 2007): Kommunikasjonssamfunnet, Moral, praksis og digital teknologi. Universitetsforlaget, Oslo, 88-104.

Artical 6 is a development and expansion of the following article:

Gansmo (2004): 'Computing: Excludingly boring at school − includingly cool at home' in N. Oudshoorn et al. (eds.): Strategies of inclusion: Gender in the Information Society. Vol. III: Surveys of Women's User Experiences, STS-report 66/2004, NTNU, Trondheim.

Artical 7:

Gansmo, Lagesen & Sørensen (2003): 'Out of the boy's room. A critical analysis of the understanding of gender and ICT in Norway', NORA, No. 3 2003, vol. 11.

http://dx.doi.org/10.1080/08038740310004255