

Master's thesis

NTNU
Norwegian University of Science and Technology
Faculty of Information Technology, Mathematics and Electrical Engineering
Department of Mathematical Sciences

Per Ståle Larsen

A comparison of accuracy and computational efficiency between the Finite Element Method and the Isogeometric Analysis for two-dimensional Poisson Problems

Trondheim, June 2009